

Save these Dates: May 2-4, 2005 Southeast Green Energy Summit!

The Green Energy Summit to be held at the Disney Coronado Springs Hotel in Orlando will feature a full day and a half conference with additional site visits and meeting opportunities, beginning May 2. Back by popular demand, the Summit will cover some of the hottest topics facing green energy today: developing supplies to meet the growing demand for green power in the region, enhancing off-grid renewable energy development and exploring renewable energy hydrogen and transportation applications for the Southeast. Leaders in business, environmental and governmental sectors will offer insights on strategies to expand renewable energy markets throughout the region. Attendees will have an opportunity to:

- Gain insights from leaders in the renewable energy field about the cutting-edge opportunities for region-wide solar, wind and biomass energy development.
- Learn from decision-makers at utility companies about their challenges and successes in running green power programs.
- Discuss various policy measures that can help local renewable energy supplies expand in your state.
- Find out which Southeastern companies and organizations are leading the way in a regional shift to green energy at the Green Energy Awards Banquet.
- Network with energy professionals and technical and policy experts from the private, public and government sectors.

This two and a half day event brings together an audience of energy policy-makers, utility companies, environmental organizations, government representatives, renewable industry suppliers and consultants, and green power purchasers. The registration fee is $175 for the full conference and network opportunities.

For details on the Summit and to participate in this event, registration materials will be available at www.southeastgreenpower.net.

To book your hotel reservation, call the Disney Coronado Springs Hotel at 407-939-1020 and ask for the Green Energy Summit discount group rate (available on a first come first serve basis).

Exhibit and Sponsorship Opportunities

The Summit offers a great opportunity for exhibits and sponsorships. With space available in the snacks and break area in the conference area during the morning of May 3 through the afternoon of May 4, exhibitors will be able to demonstrate and market their green power and green energy products and services, as well as gain access to regional leaders in the renewable energy industry. For more information on Summit sponsorship and exhibit opportunities please visit: www.southeastgreenpower.net or email southeast@cleanenergy.org.
